

Disclaimer

By using the dairy quotations and/or related information users will be deemed to have taken note of and agree with the following.

Wherever possible, the Commission Official Dutch Dairy Quotations (CONZ) bases the official Dutch dairy quotations on the customary market prices observed for the Dutch products in question on the date of the quotation. When establishing the dairy quotations, CONZ endeavours to accurately represent market prices without carrying out an exhaustive survey of transactions.

The dairy quotations are not just the result of the weighted average of the transactions reported, but are also established on the basis of the knowledge that members have of developments in the market.

The market information, used by the CONZ to establish the dairy quotations, will be provided confidentially by the secretary to the members of the CONZ.

Businesses are free to use the dairy quotations in their business operations. They are able to do this at any time, subject to their own responsibility and with the knowledge that, although the dairy quotations are established with all due care, no rights may be derived from them.

The CONZ and/or individual members will not accept any liability whatsoever for losses, whether direct or indirect, that have been or will be sustained further to use of the dairy quotations.

Although compiled with all due care, the information on the ZuivelNL website may be out-of-date, incomplete or otherwise incorrect. The CONZ is unable to provide any guarantees whatsoever in relation to the nature or content of the information available on or via the ZuivelNL website. The information and dairy quotations made available on or via the ZuivelNL website will be used entirely at users own risk and the user is fully responsible for the choices based on this information and/or the dairy quotations.

The CONZ will not accept any liability for losses resulting from failures or interruptions in the availability of the ZuivelNL website, viruses or other disruptive elements, or the consultation or use of information made available on or via the ZuivelNL website. The CONZ will not be liable for electronic messages that are sent via the ZuivelNL website (e-mails, for example) or for the delayed sending, interception or manipulation of messages of this nature by third parties.